

COSC 499 Heuristic Evaluation

6 responses

Publish analytics

Which event did you participate in?

6 responses

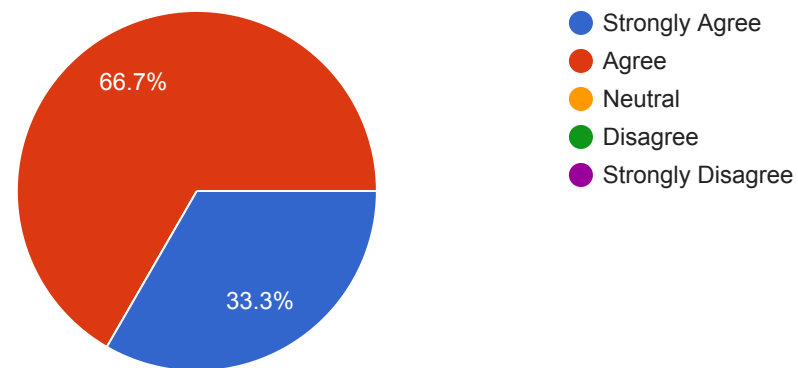

The system design affords good visibility of system system.

6 responses

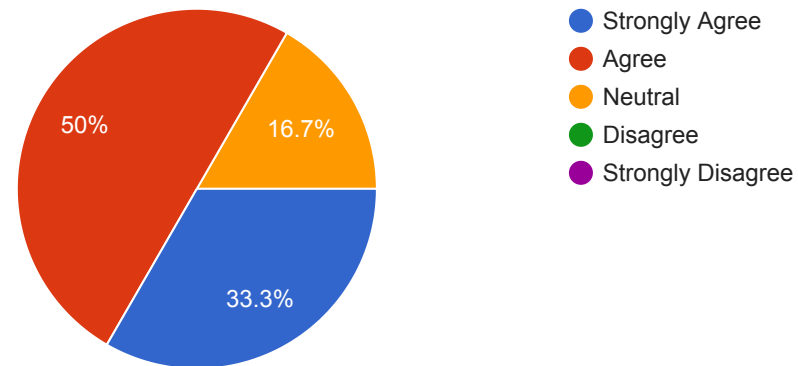

The presentation of information and objects in the system resemble things are in the real world.

6 responses

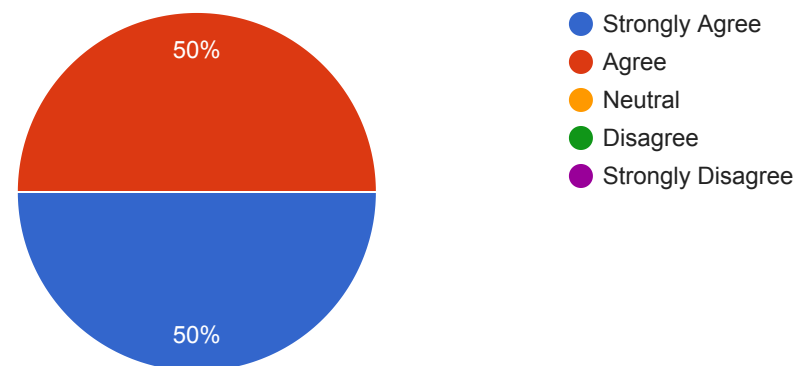

The system allows the user to maintain control and provides the user with freedom to do what is needed.

6 responses

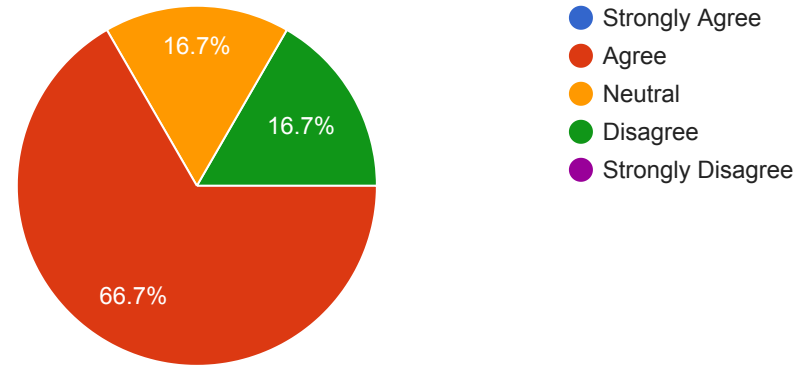

The system's design is consistent with how other software is designed.

6 responses

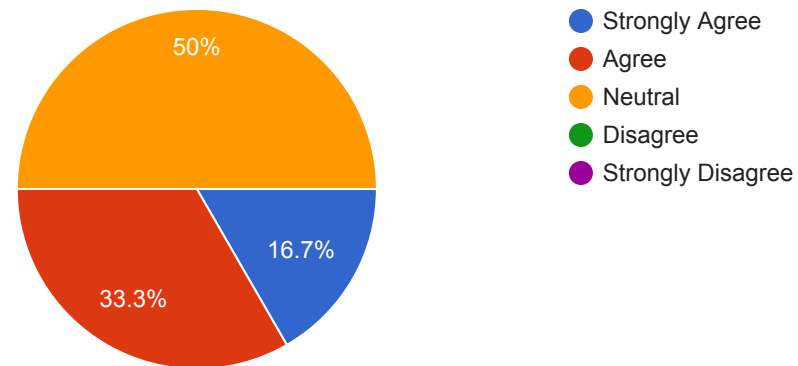

The system has mechanisms in place to help me not make mistakes when using it.

6 responses

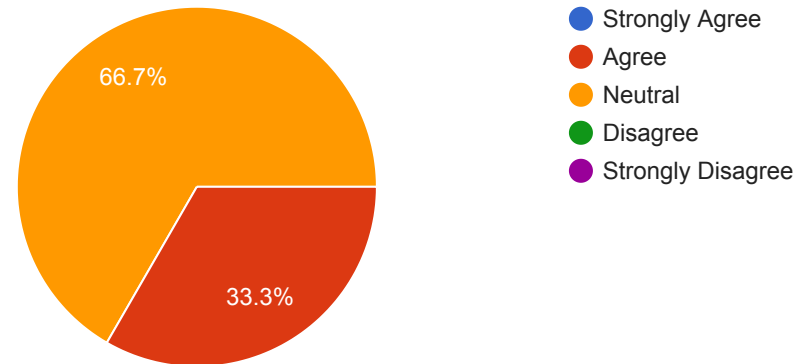

I can figure out what needs to be done in the system even if I can't remember exactly what the commands are.

6 responses

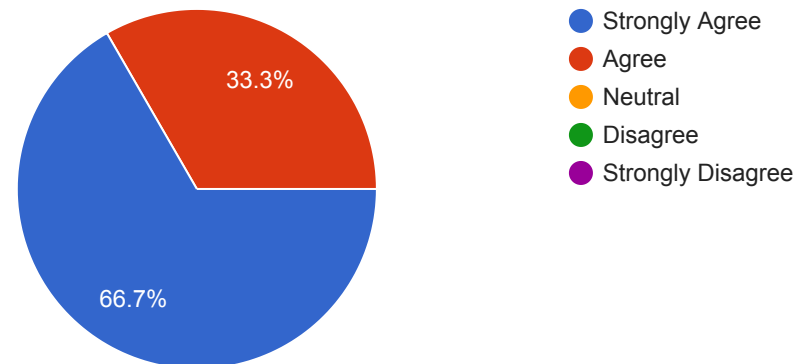

To complete a task in the system, I have a choice in the commands I use.

6 responses

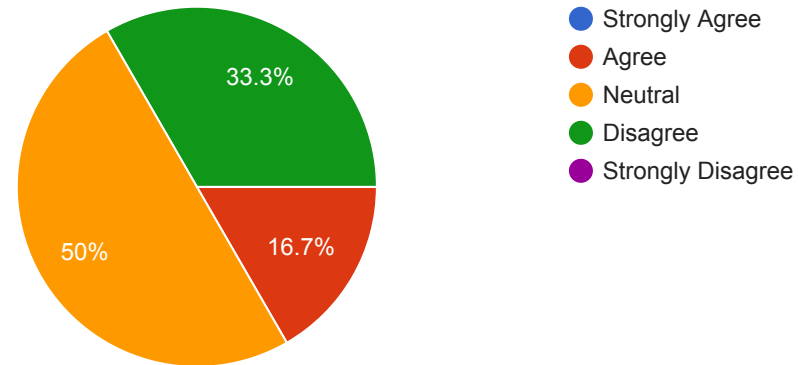

The design of the system is simple, clear, and aesthetically pleasing.

6 responses

When I get stuck, the system has help and documentation to help me figure out what I need to do.

6 responses

Overall, please identify things you like about the system.

6 responses

I like that the system was easy to use and read, the font was nice and the layout was very organized and easy to follow. Things were pleasing to the eye and the format was well laid out. The project looks great so far!

Login and sign-up pages work very well.

Aesthetically pleasing. Straightforward and easy to use. Helpful feedback with signup or login experience

I really liked the user login page since it reminded me of the Google login page. The layout of the site is also very clean and easy to navigate the material design simple design and color way makes it easy for the eyes. Navigation is easy to follow and self explanatory.

Overall, if you have to identify some things to change, what would they be and how would you change them?

6 responses

If I were to change something, I would change the process of the sign up page. When a user signs up, instead of taking it back to the login page to login in, I would like it if the system signs the user up by itself. Also, I was a bit confused on where to navigate to the meetings through the navigation bar, so making that more clear would be helpful.

A bit more customization in the login/signup pages.

Interaction panel visibility. Items should show once added.

Maybe change the purple colours on the site to something easier to see against the black background. Also, during the account creation, once the user has created an account there's red text that verified that the account has been successfully created. Maybe change the colour to green because the red makes it seem like there was an error.

some of the padding should be adjusted to be more consistent.

The voting should have colors beside the yes/no/abstain to indicate which is what

This content is neither created nor endorsed by Google. Report Abuse - Terms of Service - Privacy Policy

Google Forms

